

The Art of Hope

Mondays from 6 to 8 pm

March 26 · April 2, 9, 30 · May 7, 14, 21 · June 4

The Currier Museum of Art is collaborating with Partnership for Drug-Free Kids to provide support for parents who have children with problematic substance use.

This dynamic new program, “The Art of Hope,” is a free resource for families impacted by addiction. We hope to provide a supportive, creative environment around great works of art, and a sense of togetherness with a larger parent community.

Parents will have the opportunity to engage with a support network from others who have faced similar challenges and will be on-hand to share lessons from their own personal experiences.

The ultimate goal for “The Art of Hope,” is to provide support and a respite for parents who are dealing with a child with addiction issues or substance misuse issues. Light refreshments will be served.

Free and open to the public

Held at the Currier Museum of Art, 150 Ash Street, Manchester, NH. Walk-ins welcome. Registration not required. For more information email LThomson@Currier.org, visit us on the web at: Currier.org/the-art-of-hope/ or call 603.518.4951. This program is offered in collaboration with Partnership for Drug-Free Kids.